

Contents

Foreword	vii
Preface	xi
PART I: CONCEPTS AND RATIONALE
Introduction	1
Transnational Enclosure	5
Situated Knowledge	10
Global Civil Society and Cross-Scale Institutional Linkages	13
1 The Mekong Basin	17
The Basin's Bio-Geographical Zones	20
Natural Resources in the Mekong Basin	23
2 Transnational Enclosure	31
The Growth-Oriented Development Paradigm as Enclosure	35
Transboundary Impacts of Subregional Development	39
PART II: MARGINAL COMMUNITIES, MARGINAL LIVES
3 Lue Villages on the Lancang	51
Manfeilong	53
Household Economy and Trade	65
Changing Ecosystems and Local Resource Management	68
Tourism, Dams, and Rural Communities on the Lancang	75
4 Riparian Communities in Northern Laos	83
Marginal Communities in Luang Prabang	89
Ban Suan Luang	94
Ban Pak Seung	99
Ban Hat Kho	101
Changing Livelihood Activities	104

5	The Giant Catfish and Riparian Communities in Northern Thailand	111
	Ban Pak Ing	118
	Khun Huai Khrai: Upland Fisheries	124
PART III: LOCAL KNOWLEDGE AND GLOBALIZATION FROM BELOW
6	Situated Knowledge, Located Lives: Adaptive Responses to Change	133
	Situated Knowledge and Local Adaptation	134
	Local Knowledge and Livelihood Strategies	135
	Fish Ecology and Micro-ecosystems	136
	Fish Species and Migrations	137
	Wetland Fisheries	139
	Local Knowledge and Forest Management	141
	Local Knowledge and Bottom-Up Development	145
7	Trans-boundary Environmental Issues and Transnational Civil Society	147
	Transnational Enclosure and Transboundary Environmental Impacts	149
	Responses from the Grassroots	151
	The Formation of Transnational Civil Society in the Mekong Basin	155
	Concluding Remarks	157
	Appendixes	159
	1 Fish	161
	2 Fishing Equipment	171
	3 Fish Bait	175
	4 Fish, Conservation Status, Fishing Techniques, and Bait	177
	References	208
	Index	217