

AN INVESTIGATION OF THE TEACHERS' USE OF CHINESE (L1) IN UNIVERSITY EFL CLASSROOMS

The members of the Committee approve the master thesis of

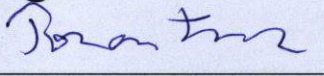

Baoxia Zhong

Dr. Jenjit Gasigijtamrong

Supervising professor

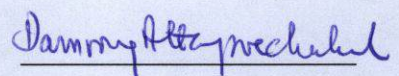

Assoc. Prof. Dr. Jonathan Leather

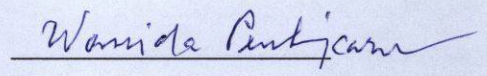

Dr. Graeme Ritchie

Asst. Prof. Dr. Damrong Attaprechakul

Asst. Prof. Dr. Wanida Peningcarn

Approval Date 10 MAY 2006

102818

70640/

AN INVESTIGATION OF THE TEACHERS' USE OF CHINESE (L1) IN UNIVERSITY EFL CLASSROOMS

By

BAOXIA ZHONG

Presented to the Graduate School of Payap University in Partial Fulfillment of the Requirements for the Degree of

MASTER OF ARTS

IN

TEACHING ENGLISH TO SPEAKERS OF OTHER LANGUAGES

PAYAP UNIVERSITY, CHIANG MAI, THAILAND

May, 2006

Copyright © by Baoxia Zhong 2006

All right reserved

ACKNOWLEDGEMENTS

The journey of writing this thesis is full of challenge, encouragement, comfort, stimulation, and tears of joy. Many people make this journey so impressive in my life. First of all, I would like to express my deep and sincere gratitude to my supervisor, Dr. Jenjit Gasigijtamong, who made the writing of this thesis mean a lot for me. Her wide knowledge and logical way of thinking, her serious attitude towards research, and her personality have been of great value for me. Her understanding, encouraging and personal guidance have provided a good basis for the present thesis. Without her inspiring suggestions and understanding comforts throughout the writing process, this work would not be possible.

I am grateful to Dr. Jonathan Leather and Dr. Graeme Ritchie for their great patience, constructive comments and invaluable suggestions. I wish to express my warm and sincere thanks to all the teachers in the TESOL program at Payap University for their outstanding instructions, help, and valuable hints during the study. Their ideas and concepts have had a remarkable influence on my entire career in the field of TESOL research.

I am deeply indebted to the two teachers and 12 students involved in my present study. Their patient cooperation, unreserved share of their thoughts and experiences in the data collection process have been invaluable treasure. Without their kind and sincere assistances, this research work could not be possible to finish.

My gratitude is extended to all my Chinese friends in Payap University.

Their company, friendly help and comfort made my life in Chiang Mai so meaningful and unforgettable. The time we spent together will be one of my most fragrant memories treasured in my life. I especially want to thank Sihong Li for her tender comfort and encouragement in difficult times during my study, and for her introduction of this TESOL program. I am obliged to give thanks to Chongshun Bai, Eddie Clark, and Priscilla Luming, who selflessly spent their time proofreading the thesis and offered suggestions for improvement.

I also greatly appreciate the aid from Honghe University, who provided the chance for me to study in Payap University and supported me financially.

The sweetest and loving support and comfort from my dear husband, Junhua Yang, have accompanied me throughout the whole process of my study. His patient waiting and warmest encouragement are always the reliance when I am weak. My special heart-felt gratitude is due to my parents' support and blessing.

Last but not the least, I give thanks with a grateful heart to my holy father. His words are always the lamp on my life journey and the strength making me stand firm in hardships.

May, 2006