

SELECTED DISCOURSE FEATURES OF
LAHU SI FOLK NARRATIVE

Amber Morris

Presented to Payap University in Partial Fulfillment of the Requirements for the Degree of

MASTER OF ARTS IN LINGUISTICS
Faculty of Arts

Payap University
September 2008

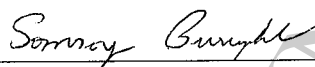

Title Selected Discourse Features of Lahu Si Folk
Narrative
Researcher Amber Morris
Degree Masters of Arts in Linguistics
Main Advisor Aj. Thomas Tehan
Co-Advisor (if any) Aj. Kirk Person

The members of the Committee approve this master's thesis

(Aj. Malee Kongwannit)
Dean of the Faculty of Arts

The members of the thesis committee

1.  Committee Chair
(Prof. Dr. Somsong Burusphat)
2.  Committee Member
(Asst. Prof. Dr. Thomas Tehan)
3.  Committee Member
(Asst. Prof. Dr. Kirk Person)

Approval Date: 15 September 2008

Copyright © Amber Morris
Payap University (2008)
All Rights Reserved

PAYAP UNIVERSITY

ACKNOWLEDGMENTS

I would like to thank my thesis committee, Dr. Tom Tehan and Dr. Kirk Person for their insights and encouragement. I would also like to thank Aj, Karen Block for her input into this thesis as well. I would especially like to thank Tom Tehan, as my main advisor, for always prompting me to ask more questions, to think deeper and not to accept the first thing that works.

I would also like to express my gratitude to SIL for all their teaching and training along the way and for all the necessary assistance with computer support and interpreting data. Many blessings in Jesus' name over your work.

Thank you, Art and Pam Cooper, for introducing me to the Lahu Si people and taking me on many village trips and helping me gather the texts needed for this thesis.

Special thanks to the Lahu Si team: Duang Tip, for helping me translate and understand the texts and for making feel like part of the family; Dawkaew, for your patience and skill in translation and teaching me Lahu Si; Longsang and Nabon, for opening up your home to me on my first extended village stay; and Daa, for being a great friend. May you never face discouragement and may your strength always come from God our Father, the Author and Perfector of our faith.

Most of all I would like to express my deepest appreciation and love for all my support back home, those many friends and family that have supported, encouraged and prayed for me throughout this adventure. I can't express how much I have appreciated your support, for without you all I could not have been able to do this. Your prayers, support, and encouragement sustain me. May the many blessings be returned. May God's face shine upon each of you and may you know Him more.

May 2008