

A PHONOLOGICAL ANALYSIS AND COMPARISON
OF TWO KIM MUN VARIETIES IN LAOS AND VIETNAM

Eddie Clark

Presented to the Payap University in Partial Fulfillment of the Requirements for the Degree of

MASTER OF ARTS IN LINGUISTICS
Faculty of Arts

Payap University

November 2008

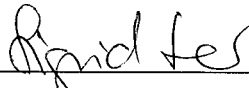

Title A Phonological Analysis and Comparison of Two
Kim Mun Varieties in Laos and Vietnam
Researcher Eddie R. Clark
Degree Master of Arts in Linguistics
Main Advisor Dr. Sigrid Lew
Co-Advisor Dr. Phinnarat Akharawatthanakun

The members of the Committee approve this Master's thesis

(Aj. Malee Kongwannit)
Dean of the Faculty of Arts

The members of the thesis committee

1.  Committee Chair
(Prof. Dr. Somsonge Burusphat)
2.  Committee Member
(Dr. Sigrid Lew)
3.  Committee Member
(Dr. Phinnarat Akharawatthanakun)

Approval Date: November 24, 2008

Copyright © Eddie R. Clark
Payap University (2008)
All Rights Reserved

PAYAP UNIVERSITY

ACKNOWLEDGMENTS

The author wishes to express his gratitude to Dr. Sigrid Lew for the countless hours spent guiding me as my main adviser, Dr. Phinnarat Akharawatthanakun for serving as my co-adviser and her help with tonal analysis, and to Dr. Jerold Edmondson for kindly providing his raw data and digital recordings from Vietnam.

Special thanks also goes to Greg Aumann who helped provide resources and translate large portions of wordlists from Chinese into English, and to Wu Minh for helping with other translations from Chinese to English. Further invaluable help came from Aj. Terry Gibbs with computer support, Aj. Margi Doty for reading several early thesis drafts, and Daniel Arisawa and Dr. Herbert Purnell for sharing general guidance, direction, and a plethora of personal knowledge.

The author also is indebted to the many friends and family in the States who sustained him with their prayers and financial support. Last but not least, I give thanks for the two most vital relationships in my life: my fiancé Emily Lewis has helped with proofreading and has encouraged me along the way, and my Lord and Savior Jesus Christ sustains me with life to the full.

Eddie Clark
November 2008