ACKNOWLEDGEMENTS

First of all, I would like to thank my thesis advisor, Dr. Jenjit Gasigijtamong, for her insightful guidance throughout the research and writing processes. I am also grateful for the instruction and advice offered by the other members of the TESOL department, Dr. Pearl Wattanakul, Dr. Jonathan Leather, Aj. Philip Keay and Aj. David Richards, and for the invaluable guidance offered by various other teachers, too numerous to mention, throughout my life.

In addition, I would like to thank the main participant in this study, who readily sacrificed much of her time to provide me with the information necessary to complete the thesis, and who graciously allowed me to read transcripts of some of her private chat correspondence.

Finally, my deepest thanks go to my wife, whose support greatly facilitated the successful completion of my studies at Payap University.
