ACKNOWLEDGEMENTS

This thesis would have never been completed without help from many people. First and foremost, I would like to express my deepest thanks to Dr. George Bedell for sharing his wisdom, insight and advice and inspiring me to work on Singaporean Hokkien. Under his tutelage, I was able to accomplish this task. I am also grateful to Dr. Elissa Ikeda for her valuable comments and suggestions. Special thanks also go to Dr. Phinnarat Akharawattanakun, Ajaan Marjorie Doty, Dr. Stephen Doty, Dr. Thomas Tehan, Ajaan Ken Manson, Ajaan Janice Stefaniw, Ajaan Roman Stefaniw, Ajaan Douglas Inglis, Dr. Larin Adams, Ajaan William Hanna, Ajaan Karen Block, Ajaan Mark Holt, Ajaan Audra Philips and Ajaan Prang Thiengburanathum for their insightful teaching, advice and encouragements. I benefited and learned a lot from their classes. I thank Ajaan Terry Gibbs, who has helped me deal with the formatting of this thesis. I also thank Ajaan Arthur Cooper, the Head of the Linguistics Department of Payap University, and Ajaan Pam Cooper, the Assistant of the Head of the Linguistics Department of Payap University. They both have facilitated me very well and helped me deal with the processing of this thesis.

I owe gratitude to my language resource persons who are also members of my family. Ms. Suat Hong Tan, my aunt, had provided me much native insight for undertaking this thesis. Mr. Teng Wah Tan, my father, was patient with my questions during late night hours and tried very hard to help me learn and understand Singaporean Hokkien better. My gratitude extends also to Mr. Teng Wah Tan, Dr. Teng Kee Tan, Ms. Suat Hong Tan, Ms. Suat Hoon Tan and Ms. Suat Lay Tan who supported me financially and spiritually to the completion of this thesis. I would like to give my personal thanks to Ms. Chananchida Sirijunto, my girlfriend, for always being supportive and patient while the thesis was in progress. Her encouragement and care gave me the strength to go on when I was lost in writing or thoughts.

Finally, a debt is owed to my dearest family: my parents, Teng Wah Tan and Chantip Yarangsi. Their unconditional love for me is the ultimate drive that made me strive to the completion of this thesis. I dedicate this thesis to them and my extended family in and out of Singapore, the place I was born. Majulah Singapura.
