I am also grateful to the Department of Lao Language and Literature for giving me the chance to upgrade my knowledge in Thailand.

I would like to express my deepest thanks to my thesis supervisor Assistant Professor Dr. Kirk R. Person for his invaluable advice, guidance, encouragement, and for the time he spent reading and refining my draft. I extend special thanks to my thesis committee members A. Mark Osborne and A. Ken Manson for their guidance, assistance in proofreading and giving helpful comments. In addition, I would like to thank every professor in the Linguistics department for giving me linguistic knowledge.

I give my thanks to Mr. Bounmy Kongmany, Mr. Somphet Phommavongsa and Ms. Bounhom Dinavong who gave me valuable comments about my data. Especially I wish to thank to my classmate Kitjapol Udomkool for all his help and concern during my time in Chiang Mai, and also to all my friends for their encouragement.

I would like to express my sincere thanks to A. Mark Osborne's family, Dr. John Durdin's family and my foreign friends for their support, encouragement, help and suggestions. In particular, I am grateful to Dr. Lee Choy Leng who has supported me and lent me her notebook computer and printer.

Finally I give my special thanks to my wife, Bouakheua, for her patience, continual encouragement and cheerful support. And, thank you, to my three beloved daughters, Phip, Noi and Nid for their love and encouraging emails almost everyday.
