

ABSTRACT

The Development Mechanism in community level for prevention and solving children and women violence problems in the Northern Border of Thailand (the 1st year) is a participatory action research. The objectives of this research are to study 1) The situations of children and women violence Problems 2) Mechanism in community level for prevention and solving children and women violence Problems 3) Develop mechanism in community level for prevention and solving children and women violence Problems and 4) Develop "Model Area" for use mechanism in community level for prevention and solving children and women violence problems in the Northern Border of Thailand. The findings of this research on children and women violence are obviously in problem. Almost community mechanism is formal and works strongly continue until get project products are "Violence against children charter" and "Violence against women charter" from community participation. The municipality officer use sub district community seminar and prepare "Wiang Chiang Kong Acts" for enforce community law and expand model area to neighboring.